

CHADD states that behavior modification (that is found in loveandencourage.com) is evidence based.

Posted At : May 22, 2009 8:34 AM | Posted By : name

Related Categories: www.loveandencourage.com and Research

CHADD that is such a great organization that helps parents and teachers understand and learn about ADHD had the below to say about the behavior modification techniques that are found in loveandencourage.com.

"Behavior modification is the only nonmedical treatment for AD/HD with a large scientific evidence base."

Psychosocial Treatment for Children and Adolescents with AD/HD National Resource Center on ADHD, A program of CHADD